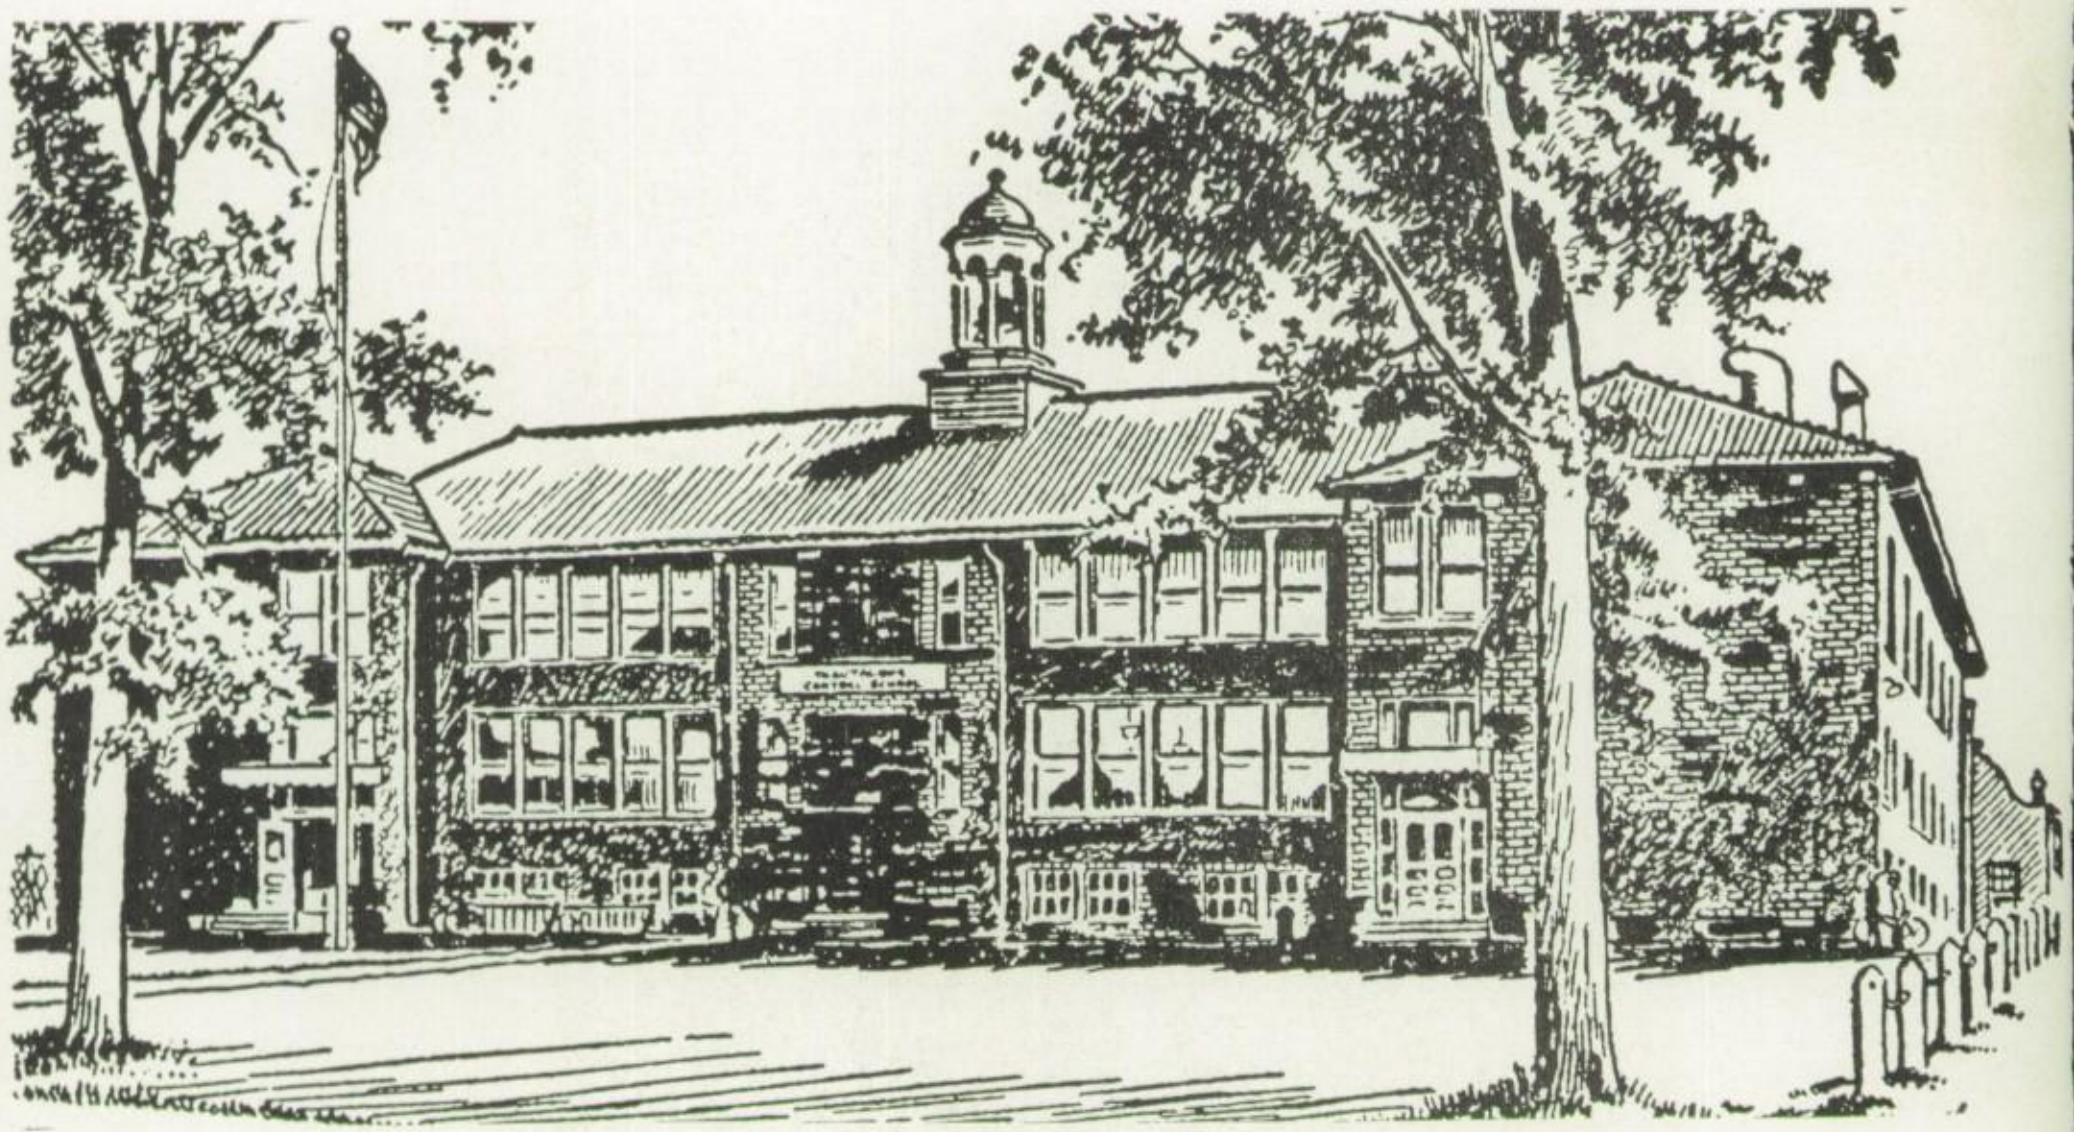
"Nothing Less Than the Best"



ALMA MATER

Where the sky is clear and blue,
Chautauqua High, we come to you;
Name that's known afar and near,
In our hearts we hold you dear:
Our love is true.

Where the gate stands open wide,
Teacher, student, side by side
Keep our standards ever high;
Our true love will never die
Whate'er betide.

CHORUS

Hail, oh hail, Chautauqua
Alma Mater dear;
We will always do our best,
Keep our school above the rest,
Chautauqua High.

DEDICATION

WE, the Senior Class of 1952, dedicate this "Indian" to the yearbook advisor, Miss Marguerite Smith: for her unfailing interest in our project, for her constant encouragement, and for all her fine qualities as a teacher and a friend.

CLASS HISTORY

By Susan Hayes

OF THE many newcomers that entered Miss Maude Skinner's first grade in the fall of 1940, seven of us are graduating: Jeannette Fisher, Susan Hayes, James Rodwell, Bruce Crandall, Jo Ann Beckstrom, Mabel Genaway and Joanne Blanchard. Of these seven only the first four stuck by C.C.S. all twelve years.

In Mrs. Ruth Wheeler's grade we picked up Bert Sears. Louise Belton and Normie Becker joined us in Miss Akin's third grade. Mrs. Jeannette Morton was our guiding light through the fourth grade. Then we passed under the supervision of Mrs. Garnett Johnson. Here Joyce Terry entered, and at the end of this year Joanne Blanchard left.

We were then promoted to the sixth grade and moved up to the second floor. Mrs. Lucy Case started the year, but she left and Mrs. Elizabeth Alday took her place. This year Diane Hagadorn, Norman Peterson, and Dorothy Johnson joined us. Seventh grade brought a series of teachers beginning with Mr. Cowles and ending with Mr. Ball. With Miss Virginia Rothra (now Mrs. Hunt) as our teacher, we added Ginger Johnston, Norm Morrison, and Jack Hayward in the eighth grade. Mabel Genaway, Jo Ann Beckstrom, and Joanne Blanchard returned to stay. That year we also caught our first glimpse of Martha Roess who left us after about a month.

Next year the long awaited moment came when we stepped into the study hall. Ashville made a large contribution to our freshman year, adding Wilbur Neil, Lowell Rein, Ronnie Adams, Dianne Burnham, Shirley Harriger, Barbara Soudan, and Ireta Anderson. Janet Stanford also entered our class from Mayville.

Our sophomore year brought Regis Ingerson; Pat Nickerson and Martha Roess joined our class during our junior year. Susan Preston and Bob Miller were the last sheep to join our flock in the last half of our senior year.

In high school we have participated in many historical events. In our freshman year the biggest events were our amateur show and the winning of first prize for the best one-act play. Our sophomore year was a busy one: we had dinners, an amateur show, and made lots of money; but nothing spectacular happened. In our junior year we were at last upper-classmen, and things really began to happen. A Sadie Hawkin's dance, a trip around Chautauqua County, the Junior Prom, and the making of the peony chain were added to the usual amateur show and dinners. The juniors also took a large part in, but didn't sponsor, the play "Papa Is All". This year marked the beginning of the new addition, and poor marks were excused because of the noise of riveting, hammering, and welding. We also remember the confusion of moving out of study hall the day we came back from Christmas vacation. The good old study hall! Ah, what fond memories it leaves with us: the fiery Student Council debates, the twenty minutes in the morning before the first bell, the dismissal by rows and the anticipation of having your row dismissed first.

Our senior year is remembered with confusion galore. At last we were in the new addition, the dedication ceremony taking place on November twentieth. With the class trip, graduation, and money making enterprises, we were in a busy whirl from September fourth to graduation. As usual there were dinners and a Sadie Hawkin's dance, but to be different we added a circus and the selling of Betty Dixon candy to our list. Then came the long-awaited trip to New York City, toward which we had worked so feverishly. Looking back, we can say that our high school years have been rich and full, and we all will remember them for a long time.

PROPHECY

By Pat Nickerson and Martha Roess

One, hot, summer day in late July, 1975, I eased my helicopter gently to the ground in the Chautauqua Institution helicopter parking lot. I was overcome by a sense of nostalgia as I suddenly realized how good it was to be back in Chautauqua after twenty-three years, and that I was about to see some of my classmates. When I entered the gate, I was pleased to see that Regis Ingerson was in charge of the main gate ticket office; I knew that she had been influential in bringing the price of the gate ticket down to $189 per season.

On the other side of the gate I saw a great throng of people rushing in the general direction of the farmers' market. My curiosity got the best of me, and as I pushed my way to the front of the throng, I saw that Bert Henry Sears was the cause of the sensation. Bert Henry explained that everybody was going wild over his scientifically fed turkeys: one bite was equal to a balanced meal.

In the confusion one elderly lady was trampled, but was quickly attended to by Dr. Wilbur Neil, veterinarian, who had taken over Dr. Lester's practice.

After the excitement had abated somewhat, I continued my stroll and met a newsboy from whom I bought a Daily. Upon reading it, I learned that Norman Peterson was editor-in-chief. His promotion was the result of his scooping the Mayville Sentinel on a recent drowning in the Dead Sea.

As I read in my newspaper the program for the day, I noted several interesting events. One of them appealed to me strongly. It was a class taught by Dr. Diane Hagadorn, who, I had heard, was just back from the Zulu country in the Belgian Congo where she was an extremely active missionary. Her class was "Ways and Procedures of Shrinking a Human Head." Another interesting meeting was the Poetry Circle which was, to my surprise, under the leadership of Miss Jeannette Fisher and Miss Susan Hayes. I had heard of Jeannette's poem, "Home, Sweet Panama," which was receiving world acclaim. I happened to meet The Very Reverend Norman Morrison who was conducting a mammoth revival that week in Chautauqua. Rev. Morrison said, "Chautauqua was previously a den of iniquity, but shows some promise."

Strolling down by the bathing beach, I discovered Dianne Burnham, now chief lifeguard, and Jack Hayward, who also, coincidentally, was an industrious beach comber at the bathing beach. Continuing on, I came to the Girls' Club just in time to see Susan Preston (the former) picking up her twins from the club. On the dock I saw with pleasure, Norman Becker, Jr., the able director of the Girls' Club receiving a swimming lesson (n shallow water, fortunately) from Dorothy Johnson, the competent director of the Boys' Club.

Continuing on by the lake, I saw "The Gray Goose" or the Chautauqua sightseeing boat proceeding at an unnaturally fast rate across the lake. On inquiry, I learned that the boat was piloted by Pat Nickerson and the oars were manned by Joyce Terry and Jo Ann Beckstrom.

LAST WILL AND TESTAMENT

We, the Senior Class of Chautauqua Central School, Chautauqua, in the County of Chautauqua and State of New York, being of sound mind and memory, do make, publish and declare this our Last Will and Testament, in the manner following, that is to say:

FIRST: We direct that all our just debts and funeral expenses be paid by the the class of 1953 and by the faculty.

ITEM: I, Regis Ingerson, do will and bequeath my slow and deliberating manner to Norma Williams.

ITEM: I, James Rodwell, do will and bequeath my height to Doug McCallister. (He needs it.)

ITEM: I, Norman Peterson, do will and bequeath my experience in building and repairing farm machinery to Charles Carlson.

ITEM: I, Susan Preston, do will and bequeath my ability to write poetry to my brother, Jim.

ITEM: I, Louise Beltron, do will and bequeath my coquettish ways to Doug McCallister.

ITEM: I, Mabel Genaway, do will and bequeath my quietness to Jeanie Milligan.

ITEM: I, Norman Becker, Jr., do will and bequeath my 180 pounds to Milton Bullock. (He needs it.)

ITEM: I, Barbara Soudan, do will and bequeath my F.H.A. gavel to Mary Bentley.

ITEM: I, Norman Morrison, do will and bequeath my educated ears to Milton Bullock.

ITEM: I, Joanne Blanchard, do will and bequeath my ability to misplace and lose things to Mr. Skinner.

ITEM: I, Janet Stanford, do will and bequeath my ability to write poetry to Miss White.

ITEM: I, Patricia Nickerson, do will and bequeath my driving ability to Miss Cowles.

ITEM: I, Joyce Terry, do will and bequeath my red hair to Carolyn Card.

ITEM. I, Diane Hagadorn, do will and bequeath my drum playing to Peggy Craig.

ITEM: I, Wilbur Neil, do will and bequeath my hot rod Ford to Miss White so that she may save time driving to and from school.

ITEM: I, Ireta Anderson, do will and bequeath my ability to handle other people's money to the income tax department.

ITEM: I, Bert Henry Sears, do will and bequeath my ability to get along with the teachers to anyone who needs it.

In Palestine Park I saw an interesting group. It proved to be the Bird and Tree Club, which I was proud to see was under the leadership of Janet Stanford, another classmate. Janet was demonstrating to the club the call of the duck-billed albatross.

Walking up to the Plaza, I was very much pleased to encounter Lowell Rein; I had heard that Lowell was bringing the house down at Norton Hall with his terrifying interpretation of "Papa is Small." Chatting with Lowell awhile, I learned that the following week Louise Beltron was to open at Norton Hall with her Russian Ballet troupe of which Louise is the star. I said goodbye to Lowell and continued on the Plaza. At the Bestor Memorial I found two more of my old classmates, Ginger Johnston and Ireta Anderson. I learned from Ireta that she was in charge of the pin boys in the Mayville Bowling Alley and that Ginger was now manager of the establishment. Ireta and Ginger informed me that Bruce Crandall, another of our class to make good, was now principal of Chautauqua Central School, our alma mater, during Mr. Turner's well-earned vacation.

On a bench in the Plaza, I noticed Joanne Blanchard, or better known to her friends and associates as "Scoop" Blanchard, who is receiving world fame as a woman news correspondent. Barbara Soudan, our class president, was with her; when I asked how she was doing, she informed me that she was now in charge of the Home Economics department at Cornell University.

That evening a group of us went to the amphitheater for the evening program and were pleased to again see some more of our prominent classmates. It did not take me long to see that the evening programs had changed somewhat. That evening, two wrestling exhibitions were featured. The first, starred none other than "Greasy Thumb Guzik" or better known to us as Ronnie Adams. The second bout starred "Lumpy Lizzy" or perhaps you will remember her better as Martha Roess. Shirley Harriger was doing a brilliant piece of work as referee. In the background suitable music was provided by the orchestra under the direction of Mabel Genaway, the first woman conductor in Chautauqua's history.

At the close of the interesting and varied program, the president of the institution, James Rodwell, stepped forward to say a few words. "As president of the institution, I would like to take this time to bring to the attention of theChautauqua audience, a particularly outstanding group. Their effect on Chautauqua and on the world in general has been tremendous, and I suggest that in some small way we show our appreciation." President Rodwell did not even have to say who this group was, for already the crowd of thousands was lifting its white handkerchiefs, accompanied by the orchestra to the strain of Chautauqua's Alma Mater, in silent tribute to the class of 1952.

LAST WILL AND TESTAMENT

ITEM: I, Lowell Rein, do will and bequeath my plaid shirts to Miss White.

ITEM: I, Ginger Johnston, do will and bequeath my ability to bowl to Miss Tomczak.

ITEM: I, Dianne Burnham, do will and bequeath some of my hair to Mr. Ryan who is afraid lest he lose his.

ITEM: I, Jo Ann Beckstrom, do will and bequeath my secret ambition to Betty Findley for the year of 1953.

ITEM: I, Ronald Adams, do will and bequeath my long speeches in social studies class to Charles Carlson. (Poor Mr. Rowland.)

ITEM: I, Jeannette Fisher, do will and bequeath my laugh to Leroy Blakeslee.

ITEM: I, Dorothy Johnson, do will and bequeath my driver training workbook to Charlie Krause.

ITEM: I, Shirley Harriger, do will and bequeath my long eye lashes to Jo-Ann Johnson.

ITEM: I, Martha Roess, do will and bequeath my wrestling ability to Patty Shannon to aid and abet her in all ventures.

ITEM: I, Jack Hayward, do will and bequeath my right to sing "Undecided" to Trudy Hindman.

ITEM: I, Susan Hayes, do will and bequeath my ability to get into trouble with the teachers to Judy Lewis.

ITEM: WE, THE CLASS OF '52, do will and bequeath Jezebel to the Class of '53.

ITEM: WE, THE CLASS OF '52, do will and bequeath our dignity and diligence to the class of '54.

ITEM: WE, THE CLASS OF '52, do will and bequeath our ability to make money to the class of '55.

ITEM: WE, THE CLASS OF '52, do extend our best wishes to the class of '56 for their years in high school.

ITEM: WE, THE CLASS OF '52, do leave our thanks and gratefulness to the Faculty of C.C.S. for all the help they have given us.

LASTLY, We hereby appoint Mr. John W. Turner executor of this, our last Will and Testament, with full power and authority to sell and convey, lease or mortgage real estate; hereby revoking all former wills made by us.

Signed, sealed and delivered in one thousand, nine hundred and fifty-two.
